"From the moment that we first met Beale & Company we knew that they would be a great team to work with. The project was able to realise significant financial benefits from a close coordination of the pre-existing fit-out, aligned with a clear design vision from our design studio.

The end result is testament to the hard work and many hours of detail expended by both the client and the professional team to bring together a strong financial and aesthetic result that will support Beale & Company for the foreseeable future."
