THE PROJECT

The most competitive LNG solution to monetise natural gas reserves and deliver LNG.

PROJECT OVERVIEW

JAC have worked with Golar Management LNG since 2008 and recently oversaw their latest office move to the Zig Zag Building in Victoria. The project took full advantage of the compliment of services JAC offer.

Golar relocated to Level 6 of the Zig Zag building in Victoria, with the relocation managed by our project management team. Consultants Energy Lab were engaged to oversee all mechanical and electrical elements, whilst Liberty Safety Services managed the health and safety aspect.

The JAC Design Team were appointed to produce innovative solutions for Golar's large boardroom, meeting rooms, café and glazed central quiet room. Our furniture consultants created bespoke solutions playing with potential layouts and designs, to create a well-lit and simple office space.

ABOUT THE BUILDING

The Zig Zag Building offers 188,700 sq ft of highly flexible Grade A office space complemented by retail and restaurants at the basement, ground and first floors.

The innovative design sees the building step back from the streetscape as it rises resulting in a 'zig-zag', improving pedestrian flow at street level and creating terraces to seven floors

"It was an absolute pleasure working with Golar, we had great fun working with the quirky angles of the building and kept the finishes very light and neutral."
